From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@emailbriefings.ft.com>
To: ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Mon, 9/22/2014 8:31:40 AM
Subject: In today's FT: China emissions surgeas thousands march, Tory anger...

To view this email as a webpage, click here

FINANCIAL TIMES

Monday September 22 2014

UK HOMEPAGE

China emissions surge as thousands march

Latest pollution figures show the world's most populous nation produced more C02 per head than EU, as thousands march over climate change

Tory anger as pledge on English powers unravels

Cameron's pledge that new powers for Holyrood would be considered "in tandem" with those for England unravels amid cross-party acrimony

Siemens strikes deal with Dresser-Rand

The German company says the all cash bid will see "two highly complementary businesses [combine] to create a leading world-class supplier to the oil and gas industry."

VIDEO

GSK in China - where now?

GlaxoSmithKline must pay the largest corporate fine ever levied in China after its subsidiary there was found guilty of bribery. Lex's Oliver Ralph and Joseph Cotterill discuss what changes the pharmaceuticals group will have to make in the country.

US HOMEPAGE

Europe groups fear US tax crackdown

European multinationals are concerned that moves to limit the economic benefits of inversions would increase their US tax bill

Blackstone to pull out of Russia

Pressure on western investors after Moscow's annexation of Crimea and lack of opportunities led US buyout group to 'give up on Russia'

Pressure to deliver on Alibaba rhetoric

After asking investors to trust the company's governance structures are sound, the Chinese ecommerce company boss needs to execute

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

Facebook pushes Oculus closer to reality

The Rift virtual reality headset is expected to go on sale in 2015

Brazil's BTG expands into UK equities

Brazilian lender builds equities business in London as it makes its latest foray into the domain of global asset managers and investment banks

Turkish hostage release raises questions

Questions mounted over the weekend as to why Islamic group Isis released 49 hostages over the weekend

ASIA HOMEPAGE

Afghan presidential rivals to share power

Afghanistan's rival presidential candidates Ashraf Ghani and Abdullah Abdullah agree a US-brokered deal to share power and paves the way for a transition of power

Goldman lifts veil on ties with LIA

A $1bn lawsuit between Libya's Investment Authority and investment bank Goldman Sachs has led to colourful claim and counter-claim

US expects allies to join Isis air strikes

Washington's UN ambassador says other powers have agreed to join attacks on Islamists in Iraq and Syria

WORLD NEWS

Sarkozy vows to wrest votes from far-right

Former president claims necessity forced return to public life and vows to work to unite ‘collapsing’ France

Rebel Shias set to take role in Yemen

Although residents say they are happy that a deal has been brokered after four days of fighting uncertainty remains over what the coming days will bring

Narendra Modi tackles India Licence Raj

Analysts say making life easier for companies is a logical first step towards attracting more investment to manufacturing industry

US urges EU to do more to aid economy

US calls on eurozone to boost short-term demand to stimulate growth, amid concerns the bloc could impede a global recovery

Hill prepares for Brussels’ baiting

Britain’s nomination for the financial services commissioner is likely to face a rocky hearing over his links with the City when he faces MEPs

COMPANIES NEWS

US toll bankruptcy amid roads crisis

Fall in traffic since 2004 has undercut the financial assumptions behind a series of deals devised last decade during an infrastructure boom

S Korean private equity struggles to exit

A lack of exit routes is causing a headache for local buyout funds amid the country’s economic slowdown and a sluggish stock market

Canada’s Omers in Paris property drive

Omers unit Oxford Properties makes first foray into continental European offices as it looks to build up €1bn portfolio in French capital

US gas exports to hit Gazprom revenue

Russia’s Gazprom could lose the equivalent of 18 per cent of its revenues as a result of competition from liquefied natural gas exported from the US

Mosaic glimpses promised land in Europe

$140m start-up fund set to launch in London is the latest sign of growing investor appetite for continent’s emergent tech sector

MARKETS

LME opens its first clearing house

The £50m clearing house project is intended to underpin the bourse's tilt at opening Chinese markets and is a key part of parent HKEx's strategy plans

Bats to launch ETF reporting service

UK-based exchange seeks to create a tape of record for the ETF market, in which most instruments are traded over-the-counter, to boost transparency

COMMENT

The short-sighted US buyback boom

Unless the roots of the problem are fixed, boardrooms will keep on draining their treasuries at the expense of other stakeholders

Italy debt is a problem for us all

We need a lot of extreme and co-ordinated policy action to make it possible for Italy to grow, service debt and ultimately stay in the eurozonee

Sarkozy's Groundhog Day return

If the former French president had ever had an authentic project for his country, he would not need to reinvent it every couple of years

'Emerging Africa', by Kingsley Chiedu Moghalu

This homegrown guide to an African future offers a vision for the continent's development that sheds several clichés

Scotland and Europe need grand coalitions

The right response is for the centrists to join forces, hard though it is to bury their ancestral rivalries

MANAGEMENT

Thomas Pritzker: multifaceted Hyatt chairman

The businessman had to break up his family's empire but wants to be remembered as an entrepreneur who created his own opportunities

Graduate trainees are the biggest brains

New recruits are more accomplished than they used to be, while years of drudgery can take the shine off older employees' earlier brilliance

Evaluating emotional intelligence

The indicator highlights the drawbacks of focusing only on easy-to-measure recruitment metrics such as qualifications and technical skills

Feedback: 'Atlas Shrugged', the movie

Fans of Ayn Rand took umbrage at Ed Crooks's review of the final part of the film trilogy, while critics lapped it up

Manage email | Forward this email | Feedback | Manage portfolio | Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2014

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.
This email was sent by a company owned by Pearson plc, registered office at 80 Strand, London WC2R 0RL.
Registered in England and Wales with company number 53723.